Course Overview

A three day series of classes, which include the NRA Basic Pistol, the Advanced Pistol Tactics, and the NC Concealed Carry class, is designed to take a person with little or no pistol skills and provide them with the skills, the ability and the confidence to use a pistol effectively for personal protection. The classes are staged to help you progressively develop these skills.

Course Requirement

The student must first successfully complete the NRA Basic Pistol Class which is our lead in to the three day series. The student will be introduced to gun safety, types of pistols and how they work, different types of ammunition and the student is given the basic shooting skills of a handgun, all in an 8 hour class. Required equipment includes pistol, holster, two or more magazines or speed loaders, eye and hearing protection and 300 rounds of ammo. The student must bring to this class their pistol that will be used in the Concealed Carry class.

Course Objective

Upon completion of the NRA Basic Pistol Class, the student will be eligible to take the SWCG Advanced Pistol Tactics Class for their second day of training. This course consists of taking the basic shooting skills learned in day one and expanding those skills. Most of the class will be held on the range where the student will learn advanced shooting techniques to include point shooting, hip shooting, strong hand/weak hand shooting, shooting from cover, shooting while retreating and moving and many more techniques designed to save your life. Day two consists of shooting, shooting and more shooting giving the student plenty of practice with different scenarios that will be based on real life situations.

Following the SWCG Advanced Pistol Tactics Class, the last of the three day series consists of taking the NC Concealed Carry Class, which will enable the student to obtain their concealed carry permit. This permit is useful in several ways and will allow the holder to: transport firearms without worry, carry a concealed handgun where allowed and purchase a handgun without having to go to the Sheriff and obtain purchase permits to buy a handgun.
